Fatal Drowning Accident.

A sad drowning accident occurred at Mr. Vipond's farm, west of town, on Saturday, Mrs. Kudbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vipond, was on a visit to her parents with her little son, aged about nine or ten months. The family were at dinner and the little one wandered out into the barnyard. His absence was not noticed for about fifteen minutes when some of the family went to look for him and found him dead in the horse trough which contained about a foot of water. Evidently he had dropped something in the trough and he had tried to get it out with the results as stated above. Dr. Clarke, the coroner, was called out but decided that it was a clear case of accidental drowning. The family have the sympathy of the whole community in their sudden loss of a bright intelligent little baby.

The Chautauqua Programme.

The Chautauqua program this year at Didsbury on October 11th, 13th and 14th, offers you and your children good, clean, wholesome entertainment and instruction. The lectures are of international reputation, and the musical companies are among the very best who have appeared on the big summer Chautauquas in the Dominion in seasons past.

The Chautauqua brings the world to your door. As the years go by, you and your children will have heard many of the world's foremost men and women. Think of the inspiration this will mean to the ambitious boys and girls in your community!

There will be six splendid programs. The season tickets sell for $1.75, which is less than 30 cents per program. If you go to the large cities and hear lecturers and music, the like of which Chautauqua brings you, you will pay one to two dollars for each program, in addition to the cost of your transportation and hotel expense. The principal reason that the Chautauqua brings so much at such a low price is because your committeemen have done their work without pay, and because there are so many committeemen helping. There are over 25,000 in Canadian Chautauquas. They are the biggest and best people of every community, whether it be in the small or large communities. Members of the Provincial House, members of Parliament, Premiers and Lieutenant-Governors are on the Chautauquas committees in their own communities.

Your Chautauqua Festival committee have a limited number of season tickets that may be purchased. When they are gone, you will have to pay as you enter, and if you see all the program it will cost you nearly three times the price of the season ticket. Plan in advance to hear the Chautauqua Festival. Its purpose is to entertain you, to inspire you to do bigger things and to make you feel that life is worth while.

Proportional Representation

The action of the recent Industrial Conference held at Ottawa in unanimously endorsing the principle of proportional representation, and asking the Dominion Government to take the necessary steps to study the question, with a view to its application in elections in this country, coupled with announcement that the Government had decided upon such a course, brings appreciably nearer the day when this reform in the electoral machinery of Canada will become an accomplished fact.

The principle of proportional representation has now been approved by such large and influential bodies as the Canadian Council of Agriculture, representing the organized farmers of Canada; the Great War Veterans Association; the National Liberal Convention at Ottawa last August; the Labor party, Social Service Councils, and numerous other smaller organizations. The Speaker's Electoral Reform Committee of the British Parliament has reported in favor of the application of P.R. to certain classes of constituencies; it has been incorporated in the constitution of the new German republic; is already in operation in Belgium, Tasmania and other countries, and has been tested with complete satisfaction and success in municipal elections in the British Isles, and also in the University elections for the British House of Commons.

Nevertheless, we venture to say that if the average Canadian was asked to explain what proportional representation means, and how it operates, he would be hard put to it to give an intelligent answer. And it must as well be frankly admitted that it is not an easy matter to explain in a short article, especially to those who have our present system of election of representatives to parliament, legislatures, and municipal councils by bare majority vote firmly fixed in their minds. However, in view of the fact that proportional representation is now a live issue in this country, it is well that an attempt, at least, should be made to explain this new system, its method, and the results which are sought to be attained by it, even though such an attempt may necessitate a series of two or three articles.

The aim and object of our electoral machinery should be to secure justice and freedom to all citizens, whether in a majority or a minority, to the end that they may be fairly represented in parliament, and also that they should have the widest possible choice in electing those who are to speak for them in parliament. Edmund Burke said that the virtue of the House of Commons "consists in its being the express image of the nation." If it is not that, it quickly loses the confidence of the people, and with that confidence, the authority it should possess to speak and act for the people.

It must be frankly admitted that our present system of one-member constituencies—and that one member elected by a bare majority of votes cast over the next highest candidate—does not secure to the people a truly representative parliament. For example, in the Dominion general elections of 1904, the Liberals in Nova Scotia polled 56,526 votes and elected 18 members, while the Conservatives, who polled 46,131 votes, did not elect a single member. Public opinion in Nova Scotia was not truly represented in parliament.

In the British Columbia provincial elections of 1912, although the Liberals polled about 37 per cent. of the total vote, they failed to elect a single representative, the result being there was no opposition party in the legislature to act as critic of and a check upon the Government. In the following election, the situation was almost reversed; the Liberals winning an overwhelming victory, nearly every Conservative minister being defeated, and the opposition elected so small in numbers as to be almost ineffective.

In other words, minorities under the present system are almost entirely unrepresented—a fatal defect in any true system of responsible, representative government. Proportional representation aims to correct these inequalities and give the nearest possible approach to "one vote, one value."

An essential feature of any proportional scheme that will yield the most satisfactory results is the creation of constituencies returning several members, instead of the present system of one-member constituencies. Proportional representation can be applied to one-member constituencies, but not with the same beneficial results which three, four or five-member constituencies will produce. Under proportional representation, therefore, the city of Montreal, instead of being divided into some ten one-member constituencies, would constitute one electoral district which would elect 10 members. The same thing would be true of Toronto, Winnipeg and other large centres. In these centres, whereas under the existing system it is next to impossible for the working men to secure the election of a representative, their combined vote would secure to them their proportional representation from the city as a whole. What is true in the case of Labor, will be true so far as returned soldiers, prohibitionists, independents, and other minority groups are concerned. They would be able to secure representation in proportion to their strength.

In these Western Provinces, instead of Manitoba being divided into fifteen one-member constituencies, Saskatchewan into sixteen such constituencies, and Alberta into twelve, constituencies would be grouped, and while the same number of men would be elected, they would be chosen from larger geographical divisions, each electing several members, thus providing that any one minority school of thought in each of the present one-member constituencies could by their combined vote secure the election of at least a representative among the number elected in the larger electoral division.

(On the next issue an endeavor will be made to explain the method of voting and election under proportional representation.)

A MOTHER'S TRIALS

Care of Home and Children Often Causes a Breakdown

The woman at home, deep in household duties and the cares of motherhood, needs occasional help to keep her in good health. The demands upon a mother's health are many and severe. Her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while hurried meals, broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches, and nervousness. Too many women have grown to accept these visitations as a part of the lot of motherhood. But many and varied as her health troubles are, the cause is simple and the cure is at hand. When well, it is the woman's good blood that keeps her well; when ill she must make her blood rich to renew her health. The nursing mother more than any other woman in the world needs rich blood and plenty of it. There is one always unailing way to get this good blood so necessary to perfect health, and that is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new blood abundantly, and through their use thousands of weak, ailing wives and mothers have been made bright, cheerful and strong. If you are ailing, easily tired, or depressed, it is a pity you owe yourself and your family to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. What this medicine has done for others it will surely do for you.

The Farmer Makes Good

Without any security but the Prime Minister's word, the farmers ploughed up their pasture and embarked their scanty capital in tillage. In doing so they risked everything for a nation that had utterly neglected them before the war. They showed that the British farmer was a good farmer and a good agriculturist. For years the townsman had ignorantly laughed at the farmer as a fellow without ideas and without enterprise, yet in the short space of four years that same farmer, short handed as he was, had so increased the acreage under wheat as to save the situation.—London Morning Post.

six and one-half million dollars, and it will go "over the top."

In some places, owing to poor crops, people may think themselves too hard up to subscribe to Victory Loan, 1919, but that is a mistake. A man may be too hard up to subscribe as much as he would like to,
but in this country he cannot be too hard up to subscribe at all. Therefore, the thing that is to be considered is not "Can I subscribe?" but "How much can I subscribe?"

There are very many reasons for subscribing to the Victory Loan. In the first place, it will help the returned soldiers. In fact, the plans for helping the returned soldiers could not go on without the Victory Loan. Every returned soldier should be an enthusiastic booster for the Victory Loan, because without it there is no use in talking about gratuities or anything like that, as the money would not be there.

It will help trade. Every farmer should be a booster for the Victory Loan, for upon it depends the sale of his crop at the good price he is getting for it today. If the Victory Loan fails the crop movement must cease;
if the Victory Loan succeeds the crop will move out and the money will move in.

It will increase prosperity. Canada has subscribed about a billion dollars to its own Victory Loans, and every time it has put over a loan the bank savings throughout the Dominion greatly increased. Subscribing to the Victory Loan is like paying out money with one hand and taking it back with the other in increased business, and having the bonds as well.

The Victory Loan has no political following. It is a letter from Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, to Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, which shows the country is united on behalf of the loan.
Dispatch from Ottawa says:

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—Thorough endorsement of the Victory Loan, 1919, is expected by Hon. W. L.

Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party in the Dominion, in a letter addressed to the minister of finance, Sir Henry Drayton. This is his letter:

"My dear Sir Henry:
"I am pleased to join with you in commending the Victory Loan to the people of Canada.

"It is imperative that Canada's credit should be maintained.

"As the government finds that borrowing is a necessity to meet existing conditions, it is in every way desirable that the amount required should, if possible, be raised within Canada itself. I hope, therefore, that this loan may be over-subscribed by citizens of the Dominion.

"You appreciate, of course, that in expressing a desire to see the loan a success, such obligation as I may have in the matter of criticising unnecessary or extravagant public expenditures is increased rather than lessened; and that this endorsement is given upon your assurance that the organization of the campaign and everything about it is absolutely and entirely non-political."

"Yours sincerely,

(Signed)

"W. L. MACKENZIE KING."

"I never saw anything on four feet I couldn't drive," said Dave, "an' if you're willing to take a chance, I am. When do we start?"

"First lesson tonight. Second lesson Thursday night. First drive Sunday." Mr. Duncan did not explain that he wanted to know the boy better before the drives were commenced, and he felt that two nights together would satisfy him whether he had found the right man.

Dave hurried back to the coal yard and completed the day's work in high spirits. It seemed he was at last started on a road that might lead somewhere. After supper he surprised his fellow laborers by changing to his Sunday clothes and starting down a street leading into the residential part of the town. There were speculations that he had "seen a skirt."

Mr. Duncan met him at the door and showed him into the living room. Mrs. Duncan, plump, motherly, lovable in the mature womanliness of forty, greeted him cordially. She was sorry Edith was out; Edith had a tennis engagement. She was apparently deeply interested in the young man who was to be her coachman. Dave had never been in a home like this, and his eyes, unaccustomed to comfortable furnishings, appraised them as luxury. There were a piano and a phonograph; leather chairs; a fireplace with polished bricks that shone with the glow of burning coal; thick carpets, springy to the foot; painted pictures looking down out of gilt frames. And Mr. Duncan had said he was not rich! And there was more than that; there was an air, a spirit, an atmosphere that Dave could feel although he could not define it; a sense that everything was all right. He soon found himself talking with Mrs. Duncan about horses, and then about his old life on the ranch, and then about coming to town. Almost, before he knew it, he had told her about Reenie Hardy, but he had checked himself in time. And Mrs. Duncan had noticed it, without comment, and realized that her guest was not a boy, but a man.

Then Mr. Duncan talked about gardening, and from that to Dave's backing his team to the coal chute, and from that to coal itself. Dave had shovelled coal all winter, but he had not thought about coal, except as something to be shovelled and shovelled. And as Mr. Duncan explained to him the wonderful provisions of nature; how she had stored away in the undiscovered lands billions of tons of coal, holding them in reserve until the world's supply of timber for fuel should be nearing exhaustion, and as he told of the immeasurable wealth of this great new land in coal resources, and of how the wheels of the world, traffic and industry, and science, even, were dependent upon coal and the man who handled coal, Dave felt his breast rising with a sense of the dignity of his calling. It was no longer dirty and grimy; it was part of the world; it was essential to progress and happiness—more essential than gold, or diamonds, or all the beautiful things in the store windows. And he had had to do with this wonderful substance all winter, and not until tonight had it fired the divine spark of his imagination. The time ticked on, and although he was eager to be at work he almost dreaded the moment when Mr. Duncan should mention his lesson. But before that moment came there was a ripple of laughter at the door, and a girl in tennis costume, and a young man a little older than Dave, entered.

"Edith," said Mrs. Duncan. Dave arose to shake hands, but then his eyes fell full on her face. "Oh, I know you," he exclaimed. "I heard you sing yesterday."

Slowly he felt the color coming to his cheeks. Had he been too familiar? Should he have held that back? What would she think? But then he felt her hand in his, and he knew it was all right.

"And I know you," she was saying. "I saw you—" she stopped, and it was her turn to feel the rising color.

"Yes, I know what you saw," he took up her thought. "You saw me get up and go out of church because I wouldn't sit and listen to a man say that God punished the innocent to let the guilty go free. And I won't." There was a moment's silence following this outburst, and Mr. Duncan made a new appraisal of his pupil. Then it was time to introduce Mr. Allan Forsyth. Mr. Forsyth shook hands heartily, but Dave was conscious of being caught in one quick glance which embraced him from head to heel. And the glance was satisfied—self-satisfied. It was such a glance as Dave might give a horse, when he would say, "A good horse, but I can handle him." It was evident from that glance that Forsyth had no fear of rivalry from that quarter. And having no fear he could afford to be friendly.

Dave had no distinct remembrance of what happened just after that, but he was conscious of an overwhelming desire to hear Miss Duncan sing. How like Reenie she was! And just as he was beginning to think Mr. Duncan must surely have forgotten his lesson, he heard her asking him if she should sing. And then he saw Forsyth at the piano—why couldn't he leave her to do it herself, the butt-in?—and then he heard her fine silvery voice rising in the notes of that song about the land where the sun should never go down. . . . And suddenly he knew how lonely, how terribly, terribly lonely he was. And he sat with head bowed that they might not know. . . .

And then there were other songs, and at last Mrs. Duncan, who had slipped away unnoticed, returned with a silver teapot, and cups of delicate china, and sandwiches and cake, and they sat about and ate and drank and talked and laughed. And Edith refilled his cup and sat down beside him, leaving that Forsyth quite on the opposite side of the room. And suddenly he was very, very happy. And when he looked at his watch it was eleven o'clock!

"I guess we didn't get any lesson tonight," he said, as he shook hands with Mr. Duncan at the sidewalk.

"I am not so sure," replied his tutor. "The first thing for you to learn is that all learning does not come from books. A good listener can learn as much as a good reader—if he listens to the right kind of people." And as Dave walked home the thought deepened in him that it really had been a lesson, and that Mr. Duncan had intended it that way. And he wondered what remarkable fortune had been his. The air was full of the perfume of balm-o'-gilead, and his feet were light with the joy of youth. "And he thought much of Edith, and of Reenie Hardy."

In subsequent lessons Dave was rapidly initiated into many matters besides parlor manners and conversation. Mr. Duncan placed the first and greatest emphasis upon learning to write, and to write well. They had many philosophic discussions, in which the elder man sought to lead the younger to the acceptance of truths that would not fail him in the strain of later life, and when a conclusion had been agreed upon, it was Mr. Duncan's habit to embody it in a copy for Dave's writing lesson. One evening they had a long talk on success, and Mr. Duncan had gradually stripped the glamor from wealth and fame and social position. "The only thing worth while," he said, "is to give happiness. The man who contributes to the happiness of the world is a success, and the man who does not contribute to the happiness of the world is a failure, no matter what his wealth or position. Every man who lives long enough, and has brains enough, comes to know this in time. And those who have not brains enough to know it are the greatest failures of all, because they think they have attained success, and they have only been huncored with a counterfeit."

"But a man who has money is in a position to give more happiness than one who hasn't," objected Dave. "Think of all the things a man with a million dollars can do to make people happy—like paying for libraries, and giving excursions to poor children, and things like that. So, in order to make people happy, wouldn't the first step be to make money, so it could be spent in that way?"

Still Looking

"And so you are not married yet?" asked a girl's friend.

"No," was the reply.

"Engaged?"

"No."

"What's the matter?"

"Well, papa says my husband must be a keen and experienced man, of good health and good habits; manna says he must be frugal, industrious and attentive; and I say he must be handsome, dashing, talented, and rich. We are still looking for him."

Australia's Shipping Needs

Serious Position of Outward Goods' Traffic Has Not Shown Improvement

Melbourne, Victoria.—"More steamers, especially with insulated space," is the constant demand of Australian merchants, and the serious position of the outward goods' traffic has not shown the improvement which peace was expected to bring. For nearly two years 2,000 casks of pickled pelts have been waiting transport, and 100,000 cases of canned fruit and jams and 50,000 cases of canned meat cannot be shipped. Six thousand tons of tallow and edible fats, and 250 tons of powdered milk are among the accumulated exports in Australian sheds and on Australian wharves.

Let a woman have her will, and she'll give herself away.

Old Age Deferred

BY DR. LEE H. SMITH.

Business men who must speed up the works and make business boom during these days—after the war—must recognize the necessity of keeping fit. When mind is befogged, when you have dull headaches or feel logy, when not "up to snuff," keep the bowels free with a mild laxative. In the morning take a tepid sponge bath (cold water may be used if it does not chill), follow with a brisk rub down; a sufficient "setting up" exercise in good air until you are in a warm glow. Have you tried it lately?

Don't let the poisons accumulate in the intestines either, but try a dose of castor oil the first thing on arising, or a pleasant laxative occasionally, such as one made up of May-apple, aloin and jalap, rolled into a tiny sugar-coated pill, and sold in every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Then a cup of hot water before breakfast, and you'll feel better than a king! If you continue in life thus, you can pass a Life Insurance examination at sixty.

If you wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if you want to increase your chances for a long life, you should drink plenty of soft (rain) or distilled water daily between meals. Then procure at the drug store Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid). This "Anuric" drives the uric acid out and relieves backache and rheumatism, as well as kidney trouble. Anuric dissolves uric acid as hot tea dissolves sugar.

Wonders Achieved-- Army Rescue Work

Illustrations Depict What is being Done in One of Many Instances Where Orphans or Deserted Children Are Turned Over to the Loving Care of the Salvation Army.

Many pages of written matter would not suffice to advance even a tithe of what might be said to enlist the sympathies of the kind-hearted in the Home Service campaign to take place on behalf of the Salvation Army this fall and winter. That many busy public men are keenly alive to the work that the one-time despised Army is doing on behalf of the sorrowing and outcast at home, and has done for the sons of Canada on the battlefields of Europe, may be gathered by the number who are taking a part in the preliminary work. Mayors, reeves and councillors, business men and bankers, professional workers and artisans, are going to give their time and energy to make the campaign the big success that it deserves to be. Surely the Salvation Army has come into its own. The church will be used where possible to voice the claims for what for many long years was regarded as the Ishmael of religious organizations.

Following is given an instance of work accomplished by the Salvation Army Children's Home, a story of almost painful interest which cannot be read without a feeling of thankfulness that there is an organization in existence that when the blackest night of heartrending sorrow comes, is ever ready to point the way to light, to life and hope.

A Pitiable Plight

No one could realize the sad plight of the children. They were certainly in a pitiable condition when they came into the care of the Salvation Army, and the family history is a story of great sorrow and hardship.

After a great struggle, a small home had been got together on the prairies, and the father, ambitious to improve his position, sought work elsewhere when he could spare a day from the little farm. On one of his trips in quest of employment he had to cross some ice, and in the midst of a stream the ice broke and he fell through and perished. This terrible loss to wife and family so preyed on the wife's mind that her constitution soon broke down and she went into decline, and soon her remains were laid away in a lonely cemetery on the prairies. After this the three children were left much to themselves, and, half-naked and half-starved, were often seen roaming the country, and sometimes to ease hunger pangs would eat the leaves of the bushes.

The Salvation Army authorities were notified and an officer was soon on the way to that country district and the three children were soon in the Army's home. Certainly the children were objects of pity, but to see them to-day—still in the Army's care—one would have to stretch their imagination considerably to form anything like a real picture of them as they came under the care of the officers of the Salvation Army.

This is but one incident which gives some conception of the work of the Salvation Army's children's homes. Who can prophesy the destiny of these three, but it can safely be said that their future will be much brightened and more useful because of this ministration of love and mercy on the part of the Army.

Is it all worth while? Has child life lost its sweet charm to any heart? Are they worth saving? Why, when sweet, rosy lips learn to whisper "Gentle Jesus," and respond to real love, should young, homeless ones be left to drift into the "criminal" class? Is there not some young life you could make happier, some capable mind you could help to clothe with clean thoughts, pure desires? Opportunity is to be found in helping forward the Salvation Army Home Service campaign.

Chautauqua

(From a sermon delivered by Rev. Alfred E. Gregory in the First Congregational Church, Austin, Minnesota, after the Chautauqua in that city had closed.)

So this great community meet is over. Set in the background of rural loveliness and fellowship, I cannot but see in it all a great prophetic thing bespeaking a future for which men struggle even to-day to lay the foundations in a great world order, which the prophets have sung and the seers have foretold for 4,000 years.

Here, as a little community, we sat down together. People of places and planes of society, of all sects and altars, to listen and learn of the common things that concern us all.

If a community can do that, cannot a world do it?

It can, and thank God, it will! The Chautauqua is a great idea, potential for the future. Its world synonym is Internationalism—that concert of nations, that brotherhood of man in action, for which the Son of God came to earth.

I saw the germ plasm of planetary good will in the Chautauqua as I had never seen it before. Such a thing cannot die. Blessed is every man who goes forth on its mission of inspiration and education and brotherhood, for he is a pioneer of the new world order which is to come as a sublime aftermath of the war.

True, the idea is but tentatively housed, like the great idea of the one true God committed to the Hebrew people, in a tent or tabernacle. That idea was afterwards enshrined by Solomon, and afterwards in the hearts of men. And so with the Chautauqua idea. It may never get very far away from the tent, but the world is to have its great, universal Chautauqua in that "parliament of man and federation of the world."

The Expenditure of $610,000,000

How the last Victory Loan was spent

For Demobilization

For Trade Extension

BEFORE buying Victory Bonds again you may want to know how Canada used the money you loaned her last year

Canada borrowed the money to carry on the war and to provide credits for Great Britain and our Allies

CONSIDERABLY more than one-half of the Victory Loan 1918 was spent on our soldiers. This included $312,900,000 for paying them, feeding them, bringing them home, separation allowances to their dependents, maintenance of medical services and vocational training schools.

$59,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1918 was paid on account of authorized Soldiers' gratuities.

$9,000,000 was spent at Halifax for relief and reconstruction after the disaster.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Other disbursements were not strictly speaking expenditures but National Re-investments.

To Great Britain for example

$173,500,000 was loaned for the purchase of our wheat and cereals

$9,000,000 for our fish

$30,000,000 for other Foodstuffs

$2,900,000 for Canadian built ships

$5,500,000 to pay other British obligations in Canada.

Making in all $220,900,000 advanced to Great Britain

To our Allies we loaned $8,200,000 for the purchase of Canadian foodstuffs, raw material and manufactured products.

The Re-investments will be paid back to Canada in due time with interest.

These credits were absolutely necessary to secure the orders for Canada because cash purchases were impossible.

They have had the effect of tremendously helping agricultural and industrial workers to tide over the depression that would have followed the Armistice had we not made these credit loans.

As far as money is concerned 1919 has been, and is still—just as much a war year as 1918. Our main expenditures for war cannot be completed until well on into 1920. Thus another Victory Loan is necessary—Get ready to buy.

Land Settlement For War Veterans

Ottawa.—At the opening of the session of the special committee of the House on soldiers' civil re-establishment, the telegram from the United Veterans' League, formerly the Gratuity League, demanding representation before the commission, came up.

The Imperial veterans of Vancouver had also asked that a representative be heard, and it was proposed to hear their delegates this week.

Brig-Gen. McLean suggested that the secretary of the Imperial veterans at Winnipeg be asked that a delegate be appointed and notify the Vancouver branch what had been done, and asking if that was satisfactory. This was finally put in the form of a motion and carried.

Commandant J. G. Evans, of the Army and Navy Veterans, Kingston, requested that his organization be given a hearing by the committee. It was decided to get in touch with W. J. Tupper, Dominion president of the Army and Navy Veterans, asking that he take any action necessary toward appointing a delegate representing the whole organization.

S. Maher, secretary of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, was recalled and questioned regarding costs of administration and the advances made to soldiers. By the end of this year it was expected the total outlay of the department would be $48,600,000 for loans and administration. The estimate of $150,000,000 for fifty thousand soldiers who were expected to take loans, did not take into account the settlement of British ex-service men. Many enquiries from this class of men were being received.

About two-thirds of the 4,128 soldiers taking up grants, exercised their rights to take up homesteads. It has been the policy of the board to try and settle men near railroads. In that case there were few homesteads available for entry.

In reply to Mr. MacNeil, Mr. Maher said there were no figures available of the number of men disqualified because of inability to provide the necessary 10 per cent. cash payment. It would be difficult to secure any figures.

The matter of settling imperial soldiers, ex-service men, on the land was receiving serious consideration, said Mr. Maher. It was felt that it would be about all the land the board could handle in placing Canada's soldiers, he said.

Mr. MacNeil asked if there was not a considerable amount of land available in unimproved land, now held under reserve.

Major Ashton answered that some sixty thousand acres of Indian reserve land would soon be made available for sale to the soldiers. Several townships of forest reserves had also been freed and several other townships were under investigation. These lands go to the soldiers free of purchase. Certain grazing leases are being investigated.

No grazing lease lands had yet been released for soldier settlement.

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change." You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. I took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of this paper wishes "The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism" overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. P. Clearwater, 615-A Street, Hallowell, Maine. Send now, lest you forget! If not a sufferer yourself, cut out this notice and hand this good news and opportunity to some afflicted friend. All who send will receive it by return mail without any charge whatever.

Big Problem For D'Annunzio

Increase In Number of Men Brought About Question of Maintenance

Trieste.—Additional reinforcements to Gabriele D'Annunzio's forces have raised the military strength of his contingent to more than 12,000 men, according to the estimates of allied officers returning from Fiume.

The great increase in the number of D'Annunzio's men has brought about the serious question of their maintenance, in view of the blockade of the port, and D'Annunzio has been compelled to request other persons who have offered him their services to stay at home and hold themselves in readiness for a call.

Paris.—An Italian detachment with several armored motor cars has crossed the line of demarcation near Tognire, Dalmatia, and penetrated the town after having overcome the resistance of a dozen Jugo-Slavs, according to a dispatch from Belgrade received here.

The dispatch adds that the United States vessels have left Spala for Tognire.

HER LITTLE GIRL HAD DYSENTERY

Bowels Moved as Many as 25 Times a Day

Dysentery manifests itself with varying degrees of intensity, but in well marked cases the attack is commonly preceded by some amount of diarrhoea, which gradually increases in severity, and is accompanied with gripping pains in the abdomen. The discharges from the bowels succeed each other with great frequency, and the matter passed from the bowels, which at first resemble those of ordinary diarrhoea soon change their character, becoming scanty, mucous or slimy, and subsequently mixed with, or consisting wholly of blood. Never neglect what at first appears to be a slight attack of diarrhoea or dysentery may set in.

Cure the first symptoms by the use of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Jno. V. Tanton, R. R. No. 8, Watford, Ont., writes:—"My daughter was taken down, two years ago, with dysentery, and I could find no help for her until I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. She was only two years old, and ate something different to what she was used to. She had as many as twenty-five movements a day, and mostly blood. We had the doctor several times, but no relief came until we used 'Dr. Fowler's.' I would not be without it in the house for a good bit."

Be sure and get "Dr. Fowler's" when you ask for it. Price, 35c. a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Aero Club of America Will Set Plans for Huge Aerial Derby

New York.—Plans have been formulated for an aerial derby around the world, for which the prizes may total $1,000,000, it was announced here by the Aero Club of America.

A special commission has been appointed to make a tour of the world to arrange stopping places, obtain references and organize committees in every country through which the racers will pass.

Dirigibles may be used by the competitors for a part or all of the trip.

General A. Ross Sworn In Toronto, Ont.—Brig-Gen. Arthur Ross, of Kingston, was sworn in by the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir John Hendrie, as minister in the Hearst government without portfolio.

Senate Labor Probe

Labor Commission's Investigation of Nation-Wide Steel Strike

Washington.—Arrangements have been completed for the beginning of the senate labor commission's investigation of the nation-wide steel strike. Chairman Kenyon announced receipt of assurances from John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' organization committee, that he would be on hand to present labor's side of the controversy.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, Colorado, in an address on the floor of the senate, criticized the strike in bitter terms, declaring it had been called on the thinnest excuse, and that the principal object was "to disturb and bedevil industrial conditions," and that the participation of hundreds of thousands of men in strikes throughout the country becomes almost civil war.

Primary objects of the senate investigation, Senator Kenyon said, would be the setting forth before the public the real causes and objects of the strike. Fitzpatrick, as well as Chairman Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, who is said to appear Wednesday, according to Senator Kenyon's plan of procedure, first will be asked for a detailed statement and then be subject to cross-examination by all members of the committee. It is hoped to complete the enquiry and return a report to the senate within a fortnight.

Senator Kenyon holds the hope that the investigation, in its enlightenment of the public, may affect the progress of the strike. The committee intends to learn from both sides of the dispute, exactly how many men and plants are affected, how many steel employees are union men, and how many non-union, what percentage remain "loyal," what collateral unions and industries are involved, and what conditions immediately led to the strike.

No Danger From Germany

Paris.—When the Chamber of Deputies resumed discussion of the German peace treaty, Andre Tardieu refuted certain objections to the treaty made by M. Marin regarding the military forces Germany will be allowed to maintain. M. Tardieu declared the German army should be reduced, under the terms of the treaty, to a sort of gendarmerie, and asserted that France had sufficient guarantees for the execution of the military clause in the treaty.

China's Peace Decoration

Peking.—In the mandate issued by President Hsu Shih Chang, formally declaring the state of war between China and Germany at an end, General Tseai Chi Jui, the former Premier who was responsible for China's declaration of war, was awarded a decoration. The honor accorded him is in the bestowal of the Grand Order of Merit.

Grain Act Amendment

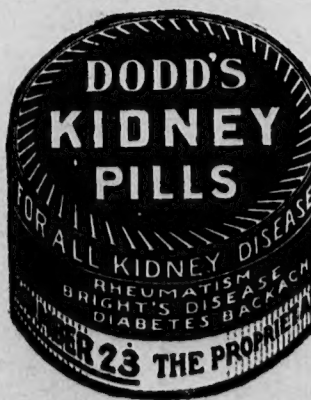

Ottawa.—Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has given notice of an amendment to the Grain Act, providing that in the month of August in each year, after the crop year ending August 31, 1919, stock shall be taken of the quantity of grain in the terminal elevators.

Wants Canadian Cattle

London.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial urging greater food production, says that the importation of cattle from Canada should be permitted.

There are 114 branches of the Great War Veterans' Association in Sask., with a total membership of 17,000.

Salvaging Old Bullion

Difficulties of Getting Up Bars of Specie Are Immense

Londonderry.—A good many exaggerated estimates have been put into circulation regarding the success of the bullion salvaging operations in connection with the steamship Laurentic, which lies a few miles off the entrance to Lough Swilly. The facts are that of the $35,000,000 worth of specie which the liner was carrying to America when mined in January, 1917, probably less than $2,500,000 has been recovered. Of this about $1,250,000 was salvaged a year ago, when operations had to be suspended owing to German submarine activities.

It is not so much the actual hooking up of the bars of gold that is difficult, as the dealing with the hundreds of tons of metal plates of the wreck. These have to be blown up with gelignite and shifted before the bullion can be reached. Each bar is worth about $6,000, and the recovery of two bars is reckoned a fair day's work. When a sufficient consignment has been got together it is sent in charge of a naval paymaster under a strong escort to London, and at various points on the journey the officer is met by government officials, to whom he reports "all safe."

League Can Exist Without U.S.

Paris.—In an explanation to the Chamber of Deputies, Premier Clemenceau, after declaring that the League of Nations could exist even though rejected by the United States senate, asserted that it was precisely because the French felt that the League of Nations was an insufficient guarantee for some years to come that the protective treaty of alliance between France, Great Britain and the United States was drawn up.

For A New Palestine

Proposal For a Union of Palestine, Syria and Mesopotamia

London.—Habibi Lotfallah, chief European representative of the Syrian union committee, informed the Associated Press that Prince Feisal, son of the King of the Hedjaz, has tentatively accepted a proposal drawn by the committee for a union of Palestine, Syria and Mesopotamia. Prince Feisal's acceptance, he said, was given on condition that the British Government approved the plan. The proposal already has been laid before the Government, he added, which is considering it.

The scheme provides for the appointment over the united nations of a governor-general to be selected by Great Britain, France and Syria the executive bodies, a chamber and senate representing three different states on a democratic basis, and the drafting of a constitution.

London.—By a curious coincidence on the day Sir Eric Geddes has formally taken up his new duties as Minister of Transport, the Government was confronted by an ultimatum threatening stoppage of the whole railroad system of the country, unless a basis for the standardization of the men's wages, which has been in dispute since the month of March, is settled to the men's satisfaction. When it is remembered how fierce was the opposition the Transport Bill, which created the new ministry, met in its passage through parliament, the coincidence is perhaps not without significance.

The suddenness of the action of the National Union of Railwaymen is the more inexplicable as, by an agreement, the war wages of the workers would operate until the end of the year, allowing still three months for further negotiations.

It is recalled that the Glasgow congress avoided a straight vote on direct action, and the Miners' Federation is at present engaged in a great campaign to secure nationalization of the mines, which the Government has so far refused. The question is being asked by the public whether there is some political motive behind the railwaymen's ultimatum.

The cabinet sat for three hours considering the crisis, after which it is authoritatively announced that the Government had intimated its willingness to continue the negotiations on the ground that "some misunderstanding" existed.

Sir Eric Geddes consented to meet the men's leaders, and the possibility of avoiding a strike, therefore, looks more hopeful.

Good Crops In Dry Districts

Late Flax Proving Most Profitable Crop in Swift Current District

Swift Current, Sask.—No frost has yet appeared in this district, the year having established a record in this regard. As a consequence many farmers have started cutting fields of flax that promise excellent yields in many instances. Fortunately, taking the district as a whole, there is a large amount of late flax, and it now seems assured that most of it will be successfully harvested. One farmer in the vicinity who counted on no crop is realizing over $4,000 from his flax, besides having a goodly amount of feed from late oats.

Fire in New Parliament Buildings

Ottawa.—The new parliament buildings were the scene of a fire, and but for the fireproof construction a conflagration such as that of February, 1916, might have ensued. The blaze occurred in an inside room in the basement among some boxes, and the firemen had to drag their hose through corridors, etc., in order to reach the fire. The damage to property was about $2,000, but whether the dense smoke which resulted will injure any of the new painting or plaster is problematical.

PIMPLES ITCHED AND BURNED

Face Was Badly Disfigured. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

"Small red pimples and blackheads began on my face, and my face was badly disfigured. Some of the pimples festered while others scaled over and there were places where the pimples were in blotches. They used to itch and burn terribly. I saw an advertisement for Cuticura and I tried them. They stopped the itching and burning and I used four cakes of Soap and three boxes of Ointment which healed me." (Signed) Miss V. A. Hayne, Stormont, N. S., Dec. 26, '18.

The Cuticura Toilet Trio, consisting of Soap, Ointment and Talcum, promotes skin purity, comfort and health when used for every-day toilet purposes. For Sample Each Free by Mail, address: "Cuticura, Dept. A, Boston, U.S.A." Sold everywhere.

The present estimated value of the railways of Canada is two billion dollars. That does not include the street railways which are valued at one hundred and sixty millions. Canals are worth one hundred and twenty three millions; shipping thirty-five millions; telegraphs, ten millions; and telephones ninety five millions. These are a portion of the security for the Victory Loan, 1919. The estimates are made by Dr. P. H. Coats, Director of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. He places the total of the National Wealth and Income of Canada at $19,002,788,125.

General Pershing is credited with the following: "I was standing near headquarters tent when I noticed that a certain captain who was standing near by had fallen into the habit, every time a private saluted him, of answering the salute with military precision, but following it with the words, 'The same to you.' Finally I called him over and asked, 'Captain, what do you say "the same to you," every time you return the salute of a private?' The captain grinned. 'It's this way, general; I was a private once, myself, and I know what they say under their breath every time they salute an officer.'"

The Big English Railroad Strike is Over.

The strike of railway men which has been in progress in England since Sept. 26th was settled on Saturday last. The settlement was made between Premier Lloyd-George and the Executive Committee of the railwaymen and is in the nature of a compromise.

This ends another critical situation in English domestic affairs and while it looked at one time as though there might be serious results through the actions of the radical element everybody in the tight little island breathed a sigh of relief when the settlement was made.

Must Produce More Bacon and Eggs.

H. S. Arkell, Live Stock Commissioner, who has recently returned from a trip to Europe where he has reviewed the live stock market situation, has expressed his views regarding Canada's position in the October number of the Agricultural Gazette. He states that the London agents of our Canadian packers reviewed in disappointment the orders for Canadian goods—bacon, eggs, etc.—for which they could obtain but a tenth of the product they required. The unwarranted high price of hogs in Canada during the past month is but a reflection on the reputation of Canadian bacon, as compared with American, and demonstrates the effort of our packers to maintain their connection with old established clients in the face of short supplies. Since Denmark, within a year, will again be a factor on the bacon market our only security for the future is full production and such a substantial export supply as must command recognition by its volume and quality. Short hog production is unquestionably the most dangerous policy Canada can adopt. This is true of eggs as well as bacon.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war.
